NEW GERMAN ATROCITIES MUST BE STOPPED, WARNS FOCH

Full Speed Ahead by Business

FRUITS OF PEACE BIG FOR U.S.

By JOHN EDWIN NEVIN,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Washington, Nov. 14.—The United States is facing a period of possibly the greatest prosperity in its history.

That is the opinion that has been conveyed to the White House by the big business men, including Bernard M. Baruch, who have been shaping the national war policy.

They have told the President that in their opinion the first few weeks will be the hardest. Then industry will be compelled to readjust itself to the new conditions. But after that has been accomplished there will be work for every man, woman and child now working as well as for the millions of soldiers and sailors who are to be returned to private life. The President's attention has been directed to the enormous construction program delayed for over two years because of war necessities.

MANY NEW INDUSTRIES.

Hardly a community but must now expand and production of materials for this work alone is likely to tax raw material production. There are many new industries as a result of the war, chief of them the dye production, which can now be started up "full speed ahead."

The United States, when its shipping program is completed, will be able to open up the markets of South America on lines planned more than three years ago. And there is hardly

Lid on Censorship Is Removed; Creel Thanks Press

Washington, Nov. 14.—The voluntary censorship under which the press of this country guarded from the enemy the military policies, plans and troop movements of the United States government at war was today repealed by George Creel, chairman of the Committee on Public Information, as no longer necessary.

"The Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Navy, and all others concerned in this country's war efforts join in sincere acknowledgment of gratitude to the press of the United States," said a statement of Mr. Creel in regard to the abolishment of the censorship.

"Without force of law and no larger compulsion than their own patriotism, the overwhelming majority of the newspapers of the country have given unfaltering obedience to every desire of the government and to matters of military secrecy, carrying through a tremendous experiment in honor and trust."

GRIP BREAKS OUT AGAIN IN BOSTON

Influenza broke out today in the Army headquarters, No. 99 Chauncey street. The offices of the War Risk Insurance Board were placed in quarantine.

There are already four cases recorded there: Regimental-Sergeant Major Leo A. Splaine, Major George Beach, Army Field Clerks William E. Dunn, Malden, and Matthew Doyle of South Boston.

William H. Horner of the medical corps is also down with the disease.

Orders were sent out for the spraying of the nostrils and mouth of all on the seventh floor of the Army headquarters who have been exposed.

A rumor circulated among the students at Northeastern College that influenza had broken out among the men of the S. A. T. C. was denied by Dean Ell of the college today. A lieutenant at the barracks admitted that Captain Amos Merry was ill, but declared that he was not sick with influenza.

Forty cases of influenza were reported to the Wakefield Board of Health today.

WILSON TO DISREGARD SENATE

Will Name Peace Envoys Without Consultation—Several Precedents Cited

Washington, Nov. 14.—The peace commissioners of the United States when appointed will be responsible only to President Wilson. They will be appointed by the President without consulting the Senate. The first the Senate will hear of the negotiations officially will be when it is called upon by the President either to ratify or reject the treaty his commissioners have signed.

Examination of the precedents established in past peace negotiations in which the United States has been involved showed today that the President always has appointed his own commissioners, has had charge of all peace negotiations and has not been responsible to the Senate except in submitting the final treaty to that body for ratification.

OPPOSITION TO HOUSE.

In view of these precedents, it was believed today that Republican resentment against Colonel E. M. House will result only in violent speeches on the floor of the Senate when he is named on the peace commission, always provided the President names him. No attempt to cancel his commission from the President will be possible, even if certain Senators so desired.

The commissioners appointed by President Madison in 1814 to conclude peace following the second war with England were not subject to ratification by the Senate and in conducting their negotiations they communicated only with the President and the Secretary of State.

Several attempts to open negotiations between the United States and the Confederacy were made during the Civil War. In each instance the commissioners were appointed by President Lincoln without the advice and consent of the Senate.

President McKinley during the Spanish War appointed William R. Day, Secretary of State, who at once resigned, and United States Senators Cushman K. Davis and William P. Frye, and George Gray and Whitelaw Reid, as commissioners to conclude peace with Spain on the basis of a protocol previously signed. McKinley's commissioners were not confirmed by the Senate and they held themselves responsible only to him.

In view of the action of former Presidents in appointing members of the Senate among the delegates to peace conferences, there was speculation at the Capitol today over whether President Wilson will follow their example.

World Celebration of Peace Planned in the Capital

By International News Service.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Resolutions providing for world celebration of the ending of the war, in Washington on July 4, and the designation of November 11, the day on which the armistice was signed by Germany, as an international holiday, were introduced in the House today by Representative Fess of Ohio and Representative Vare of Pennsylvania.

H. B. ENDICOTT ABOUT TO QUIT PUBLIC OFFICE

It was reported at the State House today that Henry B. Endicott would resign as executive manager of the Public Safety Committee, and that he also may ask to be relieved from his duties as food administrator of Massachusetts.

It is said that his resignation has been handed to Governor McCall, and that official announcement may be made this evening. Mr. Endicott does not deny the report.

Mr. Endicott has been executive manager of the Public Safety Committee since its establishment. He separated himself from his own private business affairs, as partner in the largest shoe manufacturing concern in the country, to devote his time to this important work.

Now that the great burden has passed, Mr. Endicott feels that he should devote more time to his business, and although retiring from the position which he has conducted with marked success, he plans to keep in touch with the work.

COURT ORDERS DR. DONLAN REINSTATED

Dr. Charles E. Donlan, superintendent of the Long Island Hospital, from which position he was removed by the Board of Trustees last June, was today ordered reinstated by the court as the result of a fourteen days' hearing before Judge Joseph J. Murley in the East Boston Municipal Court. The decision authorizes the payment of back salary to Dr. Donlan, from the date of his removal to the present time.

Dr. Donlan has been superintendent of the hospital for ten years, and notwithstanding the action of the trustees, and the further fact that he was ordered to leave the island July 15, he has reported for duty every day.

Judge Murley in rendering his decision said:

"It appears, and I find as a fact, the order of the board, in removing the petitioner from the position of superintendent of the Boston Almshouse, was made in bad faith and without proper cause. The court reverses the order of the board and orders the petitioner reinstated in his office without loss of his compensation."

BOLSHEVIKI MENACE EUROPE

Six Nations, Including Germany, Swept by 'Red' Uprisings

London, Nov. 14.—Sparks from the German revolution are flying across the former empire's borders into nearby countries: Switzerland, Holland, Denmark, Sweden and Spain.

In each of these lands isolated flames are shooting up, lighting the European sky with fiery danger signals and spreading alarm.

Large-scale Bolshevist strikes and riots have broken out throughout Switzerland.

A general railway strike has been declared in the mountain republic, the Daily Express learns from its Berne correspondent.

Zurich has been the scene of clashes between strikers and troops. Traffic and trade all over Switzerland are virtually paralyzed.

Strikes and riots have broken out in Copenhagen.

MISS McQUADE ASKED OF TRIPS WITH WINSLOE

At the trial of the $20,000 suit brought by Mrs. Blanche Winslow of Spencer street, Dorchester, against Miss Mabel McQuade of Quincy for alleged alienation of the affections of Temple A. Winslow, the former husband of the plaintiff, Miss McQuade today was called to the witness stand by Mrs. Winslow's counsel.

Miss McQuade was asked as to her relations with Winslow and especially as to trips made with him away from Boston. She answered that her relations with Winslow were only those of a friend, and said that she was not more friendly with him than others in his employ.

Maurice J. Maroney of Dorchester told of having been with a son of Winslow one night about ten years ago and seeing Winslow riding with Miss McQuade in a buggy drawn by a horse. They drove into a yard, and Winslow shut the gate. Later Maroney saw Winslow and Miss McQuade come out of the yard and walk on Washington street, Dorchester. Winslow having hold of Miss McQuade disappeared through the door of an apartment house, he said, and witness did not see them again. At this time Maroney said he was eleven years of age.

Francois Galeclioux.

"My name is Francois Galeclioux, and I am ten years old. I was born in Brussels. My father's name was Jule, and my mother's was Manee. I had a brother, Jean, who was seventeen years old. I also had a brother and sister, who were twins. They were three months old.

"Before the war, my father was a fisherman. We lived on a seacoast town in Belgium. Then the war came, and my father became an aviator; my brother a mechanic.

"After my country was invaded we had to leave our home and live in caves and cellars. Sometimes, when there was no cellar, my father would build up a stone wall to shelter us. One day as I was coming home from school my parents ran out to the gate to tell me that the Germans were in our home. Then an airplane bomb fell and hit me in the head and knocked me down.

"I could not find my parents; so I ran to the window of our home. I saw ten Germans in the house. All had drawn swords and bayonets. One was running his bayonet through my mother, who had fallen to the floor; the others were piercing my father's body with their bayonets. I saw my little sister wounded, and my brother's body lying under the bed.

"I did not know what to do, so I ran to the wharf, which was near, and I jumped in a small sailboat. I did not have anything to eat or drink. I pushed the boat out to sea to get away from the terrible Germans. My face was bleeding, but I did not mind that; I wanted to get away."

Francois, now ten years old, told the above story on his arrival in New York, after being picked up by an American transport. He will be sent to a boys' school at Germantown, Pa.

EXPLOSION KILLS TWO ON U. S. TRANSPORT

New York, Nov. 14.—Lieutenant A. W. Walls, U. S. N., and a sailor were killed today when a steam pipe exploded on board the U. S. transport Louisville, which is anchored in the North River, off West Ninty-sixth street. Two other sailors were badly scalded and were believed to be dying.

Lieut. Sousa, March King, Ill

New York, Nov. 14.—Lieutenant John Philip Sousa, U. S. N., the "march king," is seriously ill at his home at Port Washington, Long Island.

American troops are leading the allied occupation of western Germany. A Paris dispatch says that the allied military forces in Belgium and southern France moved forward today behind German troops which evacuated those territories according to the armistice provisions.

American forces, the dispatch adds, have already crossed the German frontier in the direction of Metz and Strassburg. Marshal Foch plans to occupy these places by Sunday.

Arrangements began today, a London message says, for German artillery and other war material of the Teuton army to be turned over to the allies, as specified in the armistice agreement.

The commander of the Seventh German Army has been directed to send a plenipotentiary to arrange the transfer of guns and war material. The German envoy was directed to meet an allied representative at Chimay, Belgium.

London, Nov. 14.—An official message has been sent by Marshal Foch to the German high command ordering the latter to take immediate measures to prevent German troops committing acts of violence against the inhabitants of the invaded territory through which the Germans are retiring.

German soldiers are maltreating the people and engaging in acts of destruction and pillage, contrary to the terms of the armistice. The message from Marshal Foch warns that if the acts of violence are not stopped by the German high command, the allied command will take steps to put an end to them.

McADOO AVERTS STRIKE OF RAILROAD KEYMEN

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 14.—The strike of railway telegraphers of the Southeastern railways, which had been called for today, was averted by a statement from Director-General William G. McAdoo. Mr. McAdoo informed General Chairman O. D. Gorman that he would announce an award for the keymen within four days, based upon the recommendations of the railway administration's board of adjustment.

BARON SONNINO AND BALFOUR IN PARIS

Paris, Nov. 14 (11:30 a. m.).—Baron Sonnino, Italian Foreign Minister, and A. J. Balfour, British Foreign Secretary, are in Paris today. It was stated that Premier Lloyd-George and Premier Orlando of Italy will arrive soon.

2 CADET AVIATORS FALL TO DEATH IN FLORIDA

Mimai, Fla., Nov. 14.—Cadet Aviators John McCone and J. C. Warstine, both of Pittsburgh, are dead today as the result of an accident at the local Marine Corps aviation field. During a practice flight their aeroplane caught fire and crashed to the ground.

and souls of thousands of formerly contented burghers who are seized with the sudden hallucination that they are downtrodden and oppressed serfs and have as much right to revolt as the Russians had to shake off the yoke of Czarism.

The sober, common-sense element, however, is overwhelmingly superior in numbers and influence and at last accounts the authorities in the little mountain republic, in Holland, and in Denmark had the situation well in hand.

RUSSIAN "REDS" BUSY.

Dispatches from the three neutral countries all mention the word "Bolshevism" repeatedly and with emphasis. It is known that the Russian "reds" have had feverishly busy agents posted for many months in all countries to which they had access, notably Switzerland.

In Holland the authorities appear to have nipped a "red" plot in the bud by timely expulsion of the Bolshevist diplomatic representatives. However, Dutch dispatches openly state "a revolution is brewing."

In each of the countries where large scale disorders threaten, four years of pentup feeling and tremendous hardships due to the war raging all around them, make themselves felt in the reaction that set in with the signing of the armistice.

Penetration of Bolshevism into Scandinavia is one of the worst dangers of the hour. Eight thousand "reds" are reported marching on Finland.

American Army to 'Carry on' Until All Conditions of Armistice Are Fulfilled

(Special Cable Dispatch, Copyright, 1918, Universal Service.

London, Nov. 14.—America's military machine in France will "carry on" without the slightest relaxation pending the expiration of the period in which the armistice conditions must be fulfilled by Germany. No troops will be recalled for the present. The American Army will hold itself in readiness for all eventualities until December 17.

Some American staff officers are sending for their wives in the United States. Canadian and Australian soldiers who have seen long and uninterrupted service will get limited furloughs, but Great Britain and France on the whole do not figure on the bulk of their military forces beginning to come until Spring, anyhow.

There is no fraternizing between American and German soldiers on the French front. Strict orders against any and all communication with the enemy until peace is actually made have been issued by the various headquarters.

Truce Terms "Monstrous," Like Fall of Carthage, Berlin Press Comments

Amsterdam, Nov. 13—Delayed.—"The armistice terms are indeed heavy, but after the downfall of the old system there is no alternative but for the new government to accept them," says the Socialist newspaper Vorwaerts of Berlin.

The Tageblatt calls the terms "unprecedented," adding:

"We are ready to deliver fortresses and surrender our ships, but in addition a large amount of railway material is necessary for our support, and it should be demanded. With these terms to support a crisis is nearing."

The Tages Zeitung says the terms were modelled on those dictated by Rome to Carthage. This paper went on:

"The people must now ask the government for a clear statement of the measures they purpose to take to meet this terrible catastrophe."

The Taglische Rundschau says: "The terms are monstrous. They will result in famine and perpetuation of revolution."

BERLIN NOW IN STATE OF SIEGE

London, Nov. 14.—Berlin is in a state of siege. Fighting is going on between the revolutionaries and imperialists. A battle between officers loyal to the old regime and revolutionist soldiers has lasted for twenty-four hours in the Unter den Linden.

Censorship was abolished and religious freedom and political amnesty granted by the Socialist government in the declaration of the state of seige. An eight-hour working day, to become effective January 1, was also adopted.

Throughout Germany the struggle between the moderate and radical socialists is going on, though little fresh violence is reported. The Scheidemann is unequivally opposed to stirring up class hatred and civil war, having learned a lesson from the Russian experience.

But as in Russia under Kerensky the newly formed councils of soldiers, workmen and peasants, constituted after the fashion of the Bolshevist soviets, are now beginning to clamor for complete authority.

Fear of famine holds the balance of power in the revolt-swept country. The Socialist party is warning the masses that only if order is maintained can starvation be averted, and American and Allied aid be enlisted for the approaching Winter, inevitably harder than any Germany has gone through.

GERMAN GOVERNMENT NAMES NEW CABINET

(Chimay will be recalled as the Belgian point on the road from Dinant to Guise over which the German armistice envoys traveled to La Capelle, where they were escorted to Marshal Foch's private car.)

VON HINDENBURG COMMANDS.

It is officially announced, via London, that Field Marshal von Hindenburg remains in supreme command of the German armies. He has notified all commanders under him to head their men homeward in ordered and disciplined fashion.

Von Hindenburg, in formally announcing to the German army that an armistice had been signed, issued an appeal for order and discipline. The appeal says:

"The armistice obliges a rapid return to the Fatherland. You will find a heavy task before you, but as in battle, you have never abandoned your field marshal, who has confidence in you."

The entailed property of the Prussian crown has been confiscated by the new German government at Berlin, according to a German wireless dispatch intercepted today. The German warship Koenigsberg has put to sea to meet British and American warcraft to comply with the conditions of the armistice, it was said.

A Berlin dispatch, via London, announced today the formation of a Cabinet by the new Socialist government of Germany, as follows:

Premier, Minister of Foreign Affairs and Minister of Interior—Friedrich Ebert.

Ministry of Foreign Affairs—Hugo Haase.

Minister of Justice, Transportation, Health and Demobilization—Wilhelm Dittman.

Minister of Finance and Colonies—Philip Scheidemann.

Minister of Social Affairs—Richard Barth.

Minister of Art and Publicity—Herr Landsberg.

FALKENHAYN WAS FORCED TO RESIGN

By JOHN T. PARKERSON,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

With the British Army on the Western Battlefront, Nov. 12 (delayed).—General Von Falkenhayn, former chief of the German General Staff, was seized by revolutionary troops, stripped of his sword and his insignia torn away, according to information reaching the British lines today.

The same treatment was accorded all other German officers in Brussels without a shot being fired.

A soldiers' committee directed that all German officers that entered Brussels should be stripped of their epaulettes.

A mob of German soldiers in Brussels marched through the streets bearing a red table cloth aloft, shouting "Long live the German republic and socialism." Then they went to a pond on the outskirts of the city, smashed their guns and threw the pieces into the water.

It is reported that three delegates from the soviet at Hamburg attempted to enter Brussels by automobile, but were held up. Eventually they arrived and went to the Palace of Justice in the Avenue Royal, which had been occupied by the German commandant for four hours.

The delegates made their appearance upon the balcony, where they spoke to 3,000 German soldiers.

The speakers assailed the militarists, declaring that 3,000,000 men had been murdered in the past four years. They urged German soldiers to kill no more and to retire immediately into Germany. The soldiers were told to disregard the order of their officers and respect life and property of the Belgians.

There is an unconfirmed report that, while the delegates were addressing the soldiers, an allied airplane appeared overhead. The German high angle guns went into action, but their bombing did not disturb the meeting.

URGE AGAINST EXTREMES.

There were three ranks of loyal German soldiers with guns and bayonets nearby, but they did not attempt to disperse the mob.

One of the delegates in his speech said that the revolutionaries must avoid going to extremes.

Later the delegates demanded an audience with Von Falkenhayn. One delegate visited him at his headquarters and the two were closeted for an hour.

In the meantime, a German sailor from the revolting fleet, who had arrived in Brussels, hung out the red tablecloth from the balcony of the Palace of Justice amidst cheers.

The crowds of revolting soldiers in the streets of Brussels demanded "a world republic, with no military rule in the future but a brotherhood of men instead."

The delegate who had visited Von Falkenhayn reported upon his return to his fellows that Von Falkenhayn had resigned and had consented to accept the terms of the soldiers as follows:

TERMS TO VON FALKENHAYN.

1—Immediate peace on any terms.

2—Telegrams should be dispatched to the front recalling all soldiers to Germany.

3—No military order should be given without the consent of the soldiers' committees. All units from a battalion to a division shall select two or three soldiers to form a committee.

There was an unconfirmed report in circulation today that Von Hindenburg had sent a message to the German paper, Belgische Courier of Brussels, approving the revolutionary movement and adding: "Let us have immediate peace. I beg all officers and soldiers to obey every order given by the soldiers' committees."

It is said that many officers, particularly those of lower ranks, willingly gave up their epaulettes and swords, associating themselves with the soldiers.

TWELVE BELGIANS SLAIN.

On Sunday night some Belgians in Brussels burned kiosks where German papers were being sold. German soldiers fired blank cartridges upon the crowd, but the Belgians were undaunted. The soldiers then fired real cartridges and twelve Belgians were killed. This act was sanctioned by the soldiers' committees on the ground it was necessary for the preservation of order.

General Von Falkenhayn made a speech announcing the surrender of his command. It was translated from German into French and printed in the Brussels papers so that the Belgians could read it.

It was stated today that the Belgian army has been asked to send troops to Brussels to preserve order chiefly among the Germans.

According to H. C. Iwes, J. W. Demarees and Mr. Swinderen, delegates of the Spanish and Dutch food commissions, who arrived today from Ghent, Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria, commander of the German armies on the Flanders front, at 3 o'clock yesterday morning went to the Dutch legation at Brussels in a closed car, accompanied by an aide, and asked for refuge. Minister Van Voltenhaven, representing Holland, refused and then Rupprecht went to the Spanish legation, where the Spanish minister took him in.

CROWN PRINCE HIDES FACE BEHIND MASK

London, Nov. 14.—Conflicting reports continue to come in regarding the fate of the former German Crown Prince. The Amsterdam correspondent of the Central News today quoted a Maastrich dispatch as saying the Crown Prince, accompanied by four motor cars, left Charleville, France, at "5:30 in the morning." The Crown Prince's face was covered with a goggle mask, it was said.

NATION FACES ERA OF GREATEST PROSPERITY IN ITS HISTORY

BUSINESS BOOM IN SIGHT

ly a single factory in the country, even those erected especially for war work production, that can not easily be converted to a peace time basis.

Reversal of the business men who have conferred with the President since it became certain that the war was over have pointed out to him that this country is better prepared to expand than any nation ever was before in the history of the world.

The Federal Reserve system will prove the necessary check on unwarranted inflation. There are a number of bureaus created because of the war that can be amalgamated into the peace time organization and made extremely useful.

SUPREME COURT OF LABOR.

One of these is the War Exports Board, another the War Industries Board. Then there is the War Labor Board. Although its two chiefs, former President William Howard Taft and Frank Walsh, have recommended that it be abolished as soon as it can dispose of pending cases, there is a growing sentiment to have it continued and given increased powers. In fact many officials here in Washington, labor leaders and employers, have been urging for some time that the present board be used as a nucleus for the creation of a supreme court of labor.

In connection with their reasons for believing that there is a period of real prosperity at hand the President's advisers have said that the United States has been practically paying for the war as it went along.

This pay-as-you-go policy has given it a commanding position in world finance that is certain to be reflected when the peace conference meets.

Within a day or so an official announcement is expected to be forthcoming from the White House defining the reconstruction policy to be followed by the President. He is expected to name a commission to deal generally in the very broadest sense with these problems.

DANIELS AS CHIEF.

While up to the present the personnel of this commission has not been decided a suggestion that has met with favor is that it be made up of Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels, who has made for himself the reputation of being the best bargainer for the interests of the government among all cabinet officials; Secretary of War Baker, Representative Swager Sherley and Frederick H. Gillett of the House appropriations committee and Senators Simmons and Smoot of the Senate finance committee.

The question of naming the commission, although favored in administration circles, however, has not been approved by the President. Should he finally decide that such action is not wise at the present moment, it is absolutely certain that he will let it be known which war activities boards will be continued in power.

One thing that is understood to have deeply impressed the President has been that any action taken must be from a nation-wides standpoint. There are certain sections where the industries voluntarily sacrificed themselves to the national emergency.

FIREMEN GUARD SICK AT FIRE IN BRIGHTON

Several women were rescued and some 250 persons were driven to the streets over ladders, fire escapes and smoke filled stairways by flames in the large apartment block, called Strathford Hall, at No. 1349 Commonwealth avenue, Brighton, early today.

In apartments on the first and second floors there were three sick persons whose condition made it necessary to move them and firemen stood by their bedsides ready to carry them out if the flames raging on the fourth and fifth floors spread downward.

According to the police the fire started in the cellar and worked its way up through an air shaft to the fourth floor, where it spread out.

Light from this blaze attracted the attention of P. E. Charles, a milkman, who saw the flames from a distance of half a mile and notified the firemen.

The building was owned by Fred W. Morris and was occupied by the following tenants: Bertha Wheildon, John Thurlow, Peter M. O'Connor, John H. MacRoberts, Geneva Sommes, Edward M. Hober and Edward H. Joy.

The damage is estimated by the police at $40,000.

Sergeant Augustus Murphy with four patrolmen from the Brighton police station entered the building and awakened those tenants who had not been aroused by the explosion.

Escaping gas on the fourth and fifth floors made the fire difficult to fight and heavy black smoke increased the difficulty of rescue work on the ladders and fire escapes.

Among the tenants who escaped was Major J. H. Lane of the Department of the Northeast.

PROBATION OFFICERS HOLD CONFERENCE

The annual conference of the probation officers of the Commonwealth was held today at the State House, 140 of the 155 officials attending. Judge Robert G. There were addresses by James H. Knight, Prentice Murphy, Nathan A. Tufts, Edward C. R. Bagley, Frank A. Brooks, Sanford Bates and Dr. George M. Kline.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—More than a hundred guests and girl employes of the Hotel Majestic groped their way through choking smoke to reach the stairways and elevators early today during a spectacular fire of unknown origin in the grill on the seventeenth floor of the skyscraper. Loss was estimated at $35,000. An investigation is to be made of the cause of the fire.

HOOVER SEEKS AID TO FEED EUROPE

Explains to Congressional Committees Urgent Need of Relieving Starving Countries

By International News Service.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Herbert C. Hoover, chief of the Food Administration, this afternoon explained to the members of the Senate Finance Committee and the House Appropriations Committee the urgent necessity for putting into effect at once his announced comprehensive plan for revictualing starving Europe.

Mr. Hoover has delayed his start for Europe until he can make all of his plans complete and secure assurances that necessary congressional aid will be extended. He was promised all possible aid by members.

Mr. Hoover told the senators and representatives with whom he talked that he was going to Europe to study all of the problems and that he would be back here about Christmas. Until he knew definitely he could not say how much money would be needed, and the leaders with whom he talked were not willing to indicate whether they believed Congress would be in any mood to appropriate money to feed the enemies of the United States.

Hoover and Judge Glasgow, counsel for the Food Commission, told the Congress that no new legislation was needed yet and that they would fully explain their wants when the Food Administrator returns.

COLONEL LOGAN RECUPERATES IN FRANCE

Gallant Commander of 101st in Line for Important Military Post

Colonel Edward L. Logan, formerly commander of the 101st Regiment in France, despite persistent rumors to the contrary, will not come to New York today, but will stay in France to recuperate from the intense strain he endured during the eventful days of fighting along the western front. This was learned today from Colonel Logan's most intimate Boston friends and members of his family.

Colonel Logan's friends say that the reason he was relieved of the command of the 101st, was that, he had suffered such intense strain during the months of fighting, that it was almost humanly impossible for him to continue without a rest. Speculation as to Colonel Logan's future, his friends say, is out of place at this time. They insist that the colonel is in line for a very important position under General Pershing after he has secured his much needed rest, if he so desires. The authority for this statement is one of the biggest men in the service of the State and nation.

The colonel's value as a military man is undisputed. He built up the old "Fighting Ninth" to a point of remarkable efficiency. When the old Fifth Regiment was merged with the Ninth in the army reorganization Colonel Logan soon welded the two units into one which, under the name of the 101st Regiment, gave splendid account of itself on battlefronts where the rivalry for regimental achievement ran to the highest point. While the plans for Colonel Logan's future are yet to be announced, there is one thing that his Boston admirers hope and expect—to see him riding at the head of the 101st when the Boston regiment returns for its "welcome home!"

DEMAND DRAFT TROOPS BE RELEASED

By JOHN EDWIN NEVIN,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Insistent demand that the draft troops in the various army cantonments in the country be discharged from the army at once is being voiced here.

These men are very badly needed in industry. Many of them were brought in through recent calls and their old jobs are being held open for them. But whether they can be discharged or held for many months to come is a problem that is bringing considerable worry to officials responsible.

The men now in the army, excepting those who regularly enlisted in the old regular army, are by law compelled to serve "during the period of the emergency." Secretary of War Baker and his associates hold that under this regulation these men must remain in the service until the peace treaty has been signed.

The general staff has before it the draft of legislation designed to cover the demobilization and its accompanying problems. It also has its views on what the country should do to adopt a system of universal military training completed. It has plans for creating a new army of the United States to replace the old regular army around which the present wonderful fighting force of the United States was constructed. All of these plans have been put in the shape of legislation, which, if it is approved by President Wilson and Secretary of War Baker, will be sent to Congress with the request that it be enacted into law.

DEMOBILIZATION IS INAUGURATED HERE

Demobilization of the different army units in New England was ordered today at the army headquarters, No. 99 Chauncy street. No more men will be sent from the students' army training corps to the various camps, it was officially announced today by Major Michael J. Moore, adjutant-general. Applications and inductions for the Central Officers' Training School, Camp Fremont, have stopped. This same rule applies to the coast artillery schools.

Thanksgiving

What will that day mean to the Yanks?

To you it will mean a warm house, a good old-fashioned dinner, and a day of rejoicing that the unspeakable Hun has made way for the triumphant march of civilization.

But the boys overseas—to whose sacrifices this splendid victory is so largely due—their Thanksgiving will be spent in ruined villages—out in the cold and rain perhaps—among surroundings that are anything but cheerful and inspiring.

Help us to carry to them some of the spirit of your Thanksgiving. Help us to entertain, instruct and protect them during the long, dull months that they must remain abroad.

And it will be many months—at least a year, maybe two—before our troops can be demobilized. The history of every army proves that danger lurks in this period of unrest, discontent, temptation.

It is now that our most important work must be done. And it is now especially that the money you give will help to make every day a day of Thanksgiving to the boys in khaki and blue.

$250,000,000

By giving to these seven organizations all at once, the cost and effort of six additional campaigns are saved.

HUNGER WILL RULE UNLESS YOU AID BASKET FUND

Fifteen minutes out of your income. How about it?

Fifteen little minutes—yet what you earn in that time added to what everybody else earns for the same period will put the Boston AMERICAN'S Christmas Basket Fund so far over the top that the poor on Christmas Day will sit down, without a single exception, to one dinner out of the year that will be such a glad surprise that the wonder of it won't go away for weeks.

How about it, you sir?

Fiften minutes? Why, you have perhaps wasted fifteen minutes today. How about the day last week when you overstayed your lunch hour by thirty minutes? You got paid for it just the same. Why not donate that to the Christmas Basket Fund?

How about Monday and Tuesday, when you didn't do enough work to deserve any pay at all because you were so glad to celebrate the coming of peace? You got paid for that, too. Didn't you?

How about it? How about figuring out on the basis of an eight-hour day what you earn every fifteen minutes and just enclose that amount in an envelope and send to to this fund?

You'll never miss it in the world, but you will have been the means of swelling the fund which is going to carry great joy this year into the homes of hundreds of poor widows and little children on Christmas Day.

How about you, madame? You are earning good money. What is fifteen minutes worth of your income going to mean to you? Nothing. Think how much it is going to mean to these destitute ones.

The poor this year because of the war seem to be lost sight of. People do not seem to have the same keen sympathy for them as formerly.

POOR ARE SUFFERING MUCH.

But they are there. Don't forget that. The poor were never as poor in their lives as they are this year. Hundreds of letters already received by the secretary of the Christmas Basket Fund testify to that.

Poor widows and children are absolutely begging not to be forgotten on this day.

A whole drawer full of pitiful letters say that they are starving. The war and the influenza and the high prices and the coal shortage and the increase in rents and about twenty-five other things have made their lot pitiable indeed.

Any person who cares to call on the secretary of the fund at the office of the fund at No. 80 Boylston street will cheerfully be shown these letters if the inquirer comes in a spirit of helpfulness. There are plenty to choose from, and all equally sad.

This year, with the prices of supplies what they are, it will take at least $10,000 to supply the known cases of want in this city.

Boston's people have come generously to the aid of this fund already, but the fund is now only at the $2000 mark, and this small sum includes $1000 contributed by the Boston AMERICAN.

PEACE SHOULD AID FUND.

So, how about everybody coming in for fifteen minutes' worth of their incomes and putting this fund right over the top and half-way out across No Man's Land without any more fuss?

Peace jubilees ought not to interfere with the subscriptions to this fund. On the contrary, people ought to feel good enough inside to contribute royally to make these others as happy as themselves.

Will You Give Income of 15 Minutes to Charity?

The Boston AMERICAN'S Christmas Basket Fund asks for the income, FOR FIFTEEN MINUTES, of every man and woman in Greater Boston.

This money will go to provide Christmas dinners for poor widows and children who are starving.

If everybody in Greater Boston would give their income for this short period the sum collected would provide dinners not only for Christmas, but for many days besides.

What does your income for fifteen minutes amount to, to you? Very little

Figure out what you earn each day. Divide it by eight for an eight-hour day, and divide that by four and send the result in cents or dollars to the Boston AMERICAN'S Christmas Basket Fund, No. 80 Summer street. The contribution will be acknowledged. Only initials will be printed in acknowledgement if desired.

Come on now, everybody. Help out this drive for Christmas cheer and send in your income for a quarter of an hour.

"UNSINKABLE" SHIP SUNK BY ARMY TRUCKS

Vehicles, in Storm, Crashed Through Deck, Hold and Bottom

New York, Nov. 14.—A deckload of army trucks was responsible for the loss of the "unsinkable" steamer Lucia which had remained afloat for nearly twenty-four hours after a German torpedo had wrecked her engine room.

The true story of the loss of the Lucia was learned when several members of the crew arrived here from Newport News to purchase a silver cup to be presented to the officers and men of the United States destroyer No. 93 which picked them up after the Lucia had foundered.

The men said they owed their lives to the fact that the ship had lived up to all the inventors had claimed for her. Despite the great gash in the midship section caused by the torpedo, the vessel retained her buoyancy until the army trucks on the deck became loosened from their fastenings in a heavy storm.

The heavy trucks were shot here and there, smashing the superstructure and finally crashed through the deck to the hold and through the bottom of the ship.

The U-boat that torpedoed the Lucia was not seen by anybody on board.

U. S. GETS $9,620.02 FROM SEIZED LEATHER

Austrian leather, seized when this country entered the war, was sold at auction, under direction of A. Mitchell Palmer, alien property custodian, at the Quincy Market Cold Storage Warehouse, Kneeland street. The sale brought the government $9,620.02. Forty-six bales weighing 365 pounds each were sold at 58 cents a pound; and 16 bales weighing 116 pounds each brought 52 cents a pound. Another big leather sale will take place tomorrow in New York.

Our Fighting Men Assured of Their "Makings"—the Government Releases Part of the Output of "BULL" DURHAM Tobacco.

THIS is good news from Washington!

Since April, at the request of the Government, our entire output of "BULL" DURHAM, thirty-six million sacks a month, has been going to our fighting men—going forward with the colors—until now every camp, every billet, every naval station and every ship is supplied and the Government is assured that wherever our boys in khaki and in blue are—there also is "BULL" DURHAM.

For this purpose, was our entire output requested and given. The purpose accomplished—and full supplies of "BULL" DURHAM guaranteed for the future—the Government has released the remaining part of the "Makings of a Nation" for civilian consumption.

Ask your dealer for a sack of "Bull," and once again, with your own hands, roll a cigarette for yourself—a cigarette machines can't imitate—the mildest, the most fragrant, the most economical cigarette in the world. Thus, we know, you will welcome good old "Bull" home again. For "Bull" has done his bit gladly and well—and will continue to do it right into Berlin.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards's determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Most headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "loggy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" clouded brain and how they "perk up" the spirits. 10c and 25c a box. All druggists.

Were your clothes covered with talcum Monday night?

THE white victory shower of talcum and tooth powder in Monday's celebration did considerable damage to fine furs and clothing. Ordinary methods will not remove talcum. It will not dissolve in water, hot or cold. Water may even do further damage, especially to fine silks. Brushing may drive the fine powder farther into the fabric. The Renova Cleansing Process will take out talcum stains successfully from heavy or delicate fabrics or from furs. Renova Cleansing is quick and inexpensive, as well as dependable. Five days after the article reaches the Renova Cleansing Shop, it is ready for use. Street floor.

BOSTON MUST HUSTLE TO MAKE WAR DRIVE QUOTA

Boston continues to lag in contributing to the United War Work drive, which is passing through its fourth day.

But $1,615,223 has been raised in the city in three days, less than one-seventh of the Boston quota. In three days Boston has donated what was expected in the first day of the drive.

MUST LOOSEN PURSESTRINGS.

Reports from various ward headquarters early today indicated that the people of the city were beginning in a way to realize that failure loomed ahead if the pursestrings weren't loosened a lot. But the increases are not of such a nature as to induce optimism.

Boston, always leader in all war campaigns, is threatened with failure in this the biggest free-will offering in the history of mankind.

"The people must get this demobilization situation straight and at once," said John R. Macomber, vice-chairman of the Massachusetts organization. "I do not want to be pessimistic, but unless folks generally triple up on their efforts metropolitan Boston is going to fail miserably in this campaign. They are going to fail to pay a debt of gratitude to the American boys who have performed a task for which we can never hope to pay.

"The whole country is anxious over this question of demobilization. 'When are the boys coming home?' is heard on every side.

"Now, listen and understand the situation thoroughly. Once understanding, you will get busy in this campaign and see that it is put across. Washington announced this morning that before demobilization can be thought of a complete reorganization of the army must be made. This tremendous task, embracing 4,000,000 men, 50 per cent. at home and the balance overseas, will occupy the attention of Congress for many months. There are a thousand and one things to straighten out.

BOYS MUST BE REWARDED.

"First of all, the results of the peace conference must first be known before any action whatever can be taken as to how many American soldiers it will be necessary to keep in France. No action whatever will be coming for several months, and then at best less than half will be brought home.

"The biggest majority of the American boys now over there will not see American shores for a full year or more. Are they to be neglected during that long period of time? Is it your desire that they be neglected? Don't you care what becomes of them now that their task for you is finished?

"I do not believe that such is the attitude of the people of New England. In the wild moment of rejoicing over a great victory they have forgotten a little bit, that is all. Do not forget that your celebration was the indisputable result of these boys of ours. They turned the trick and now we ask is that the way you reward them."

New England, which should be well over the $11,000,000 mark today, has contributed $8,047,257. The Massachusetts total was $4,714,000, less than half of what was anticipated. The poor showing of metropolitan Boston is holding back the entire State.

BRITISH "ACE" SPEAKS FOR DRIVE ON COMMON

Captain Daniel Owen, ace in the British Royal Flying Corps, who spent three months in a German prison after his plane had fallen back of the enemy lines, roused a big crowd to great enthusiasm on Boston Common at the noon rally for the United War Work Fund. The story of his experiences added quite a few dollars to the Boston part of the fund. Other speakers were George Bramwell Baker, president of the Bunker Hill Boys' Club; Councillor Harris, and Gregory Kelly of the "Seventeen" company. The Navy Yard Band played.

REPORT DEVENS TO BE HOSPITAL CAMP

Believed Overseas Injured Will Be Treated at Ayer Cantonment

By THOMAS F. PHELAN.

Camp Devens, Nov. 14.—There is a persistent rumor here that this cantonment is to be taken over by the War Department and converted into a hospital camp for returning overseas injured soldiers. This rumor is augmented by the fact that additional buildings are being made over into surgical wards.

Quite a number of the development battalion, composed of men afflicted with physical ailments, will be mustered out of the service shortly, it is stated.

Wearing gas masks, and weighted down with haversacks and overcoats, a large contingent of infantry went on a long hike today through Shirley and neighboring towns. The appearance of the men with the masks over their faces elicited good natured banterings from civilians.

Private Dorofer Klimshuk of the 17th Company, Fifth Battalion, found guilty of violation of the 96th article of war, was sentenced to be confined at hard labor for twelve months and to forfeit all pay and allowances for a like period.

It was alleged that Klimshuk told Captain Joseph W. Schirmer of the Medical Corps he was suffering from pain in the left groin, that the administration of a general anesthetic was necessary to determine the nature and extent of his disability; that Klimshuk refused to submit to such anesthetic; that a medical board later determined it was necessary to Klimshuk was notified of the action of the board and still refused to comply with the order.

The court-martial followed. He pleaded not guilty to each specification. The trial board found him guilty.

More than 500 enlisted men of the Plymouth Division were today transferred to the Development Battalion, 151st Depot Brigade.

A New England soldier, whose name is withheld, was sentenced to ten years for being absent four days without leave. It is alleged that he swapped his uniform with a civilian for a business suit.

Harvard Squad Has New Drilling Hours; Time: 8 to 10 A.M.

A switch in the hours for football practice at Harvard took place today, when fifty candidates reported on Soldiers Field at 8 a. m. The drill lasted two hours.

Bob Hoffman is now working in the varsity backfield. Philbin of last year's informals, reports later in the week. Goose Reilly, who quite football, is studying for admission to the Officers' Material School.

Tewksbury Is Major Now

Captain T. L. Tewksbury of Brookline, senior instructor at the School of Fire, Fort Sill, Okla., has been commissioned a major and assigned to the 84th Regiment, Field Artillery, Camp Sheridan, Alabama.

RADIO ELEVEN IS OUT TO DOWN ARMY OUTFIT

35,000 Persons Expected to Witness Football Battle at the Stadium Saturday

U. S. Naval Radio School, Cambridge, Nov. 14.—Plans were fast nearing completion today for the big football game to be held at the Harvard Stadium, Saturday, between the Camp Devens eleven and the Radio gridiron squad. A record attendance is expected, and, owing to the prevailing peace sentiment, it is expected that the Radio and Camp Devens game will go far toward removing the war time "dampen" that has been placed upon all sports since the war made its demands upon sport followers.

Fully 35,000 persons are expected to attend the game. Radio boosters today stated they would not be surprised if the attendance exceeded that number. It is, they claim, to be the biggest game of the season for the Radio eleven, and the wireless eleven is leaving no stone unturned to make the tussle a victorious one.

None was willing to admit that it would be a "walk-over" affair for the Radio team, inasmuch as the Camp Devens aggregation is known to be a crack organization, and, with 35,000 men from which to select its squad, its army team is expected to give the best outfit the hardest battle of its career.

There was no pessimistic tone to the Radio enthusiasts' expectations, however. They pointed to the past performances of their champions, wherein they have piled up a perfect score against all comers in regular scheduled games.

ONION PROFITEER GIVES $4 TO WAR DRIVE

The United War Drive is $4 richer today, thanks to an onion profiteer. The Food Administration fixes the price of onions at 3 cents a pound. Frank A. Merrill, a grocer at No. 1422 Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge, was found selling them at 5 cents a pound or six pounds for a quarter. Merrill was ordered to donate his excess profits, amounting to $4, to the war drive fund, and to post the customary confession of guilt on his premises for thirty days.

TURKS PLAN MASSACRE

Though the exact facts are not yet ascertained, it seems not unlikely that such desertions, perhaps a few hundred, did take place. At the beginning of the war, Union and Progressive agents appeared in Erzerum and Van and appealed to the Armenian leaders to go into Russian Armenia and attempt to start revolutions against the Russian government; and the fact that the Ottoman Armenians refused to do this contributed further to the prevailing irritation.

The Turkish government has made much of the "treasonable" behavior of the Armenians of Van and has even urged it as an excuse for subsequent treatment of the whole race.

This attitude illustrates once more the perversity of the Turkish mind. After massacring hundreds of thousands of Armenians in the course of thirty years, outraging their women and girls, and robbing and maltreating them in every conceivable way, the Turks still apparently believed that they had the right to expect from them the most enthusiastic "loyalty."

That the Armenians all over Turkey sympathized with the entente was no secret. "If you want to know how the war is going," wrote a humorous Turkish newspaper, "all you need to do is to look in the face of an Armenian. If he is smiling, then the allies are winning; if he is downcast, then the Germans are successful."

Though the air, all during the Autumn and Winter of 1914-15, was filled with premonitions of trouble, the Armenians behaved with remarkable self-restraint.

For years it had been the Turkish policy to provoke the Christian population into committing over acts, and then seizing upon such misbehavor as an excuse for massacres.

When the war started the central government recalled Tahsin Pasha, the conciliatory governor of Van, and replaced him with Djevdet Bey, a brother-in-law of Enver Pasha.

Djevdet had spent the larger part of his life at Van; he was a man of unstable character, friendly to non-Moslems one moment, hostile the next, hypocritical, treacherous and ferocious according to the worst traditions of his race. He hated the Armenians and cordially sympathized with the long-established Turkish plan of solving the Armenian problem.

WITH ORDER TO SLAUGHTER.

There is little doubt that he came to Van with definite instructions to exterminate all Armenians in this province, but, for the first few months, conditions did not facilitate such operations. Djevdet himself was absent fighting the Russians in the Caucasus and the near approach of the enemy made it a wise policy for the Turks to refrain from maltreating the Armenians of Van.

But early in the Spring the Russians temporarily retreated. It is generally recognized as good military tactics for a victorious army to follow up the retreating enemy. In the eyes of the Turkish generals, however, the withdrawal of the Russians was a happy turn of war mainly because it deprived the Armenians of their protectors and left them at the mercies of the Turkish army.

Instead of following the retreating foe, therefore, the Turks' army turned aside and invaded their own territory of Van. Instead of fighting the trained Russian army of men, they turned their rifles, machine guns and other weapons upon the Armenian women, children and old men in the villages of Van.

Following their usual custom, they distributed the most beautiful Armenian women among the Moslems, sacked and burned the Armenian villages, and massacred uninterruptedly for days. On April 15th, about 500 young Armenian men of Akantz were mustered to hear an order of the Sultan; at sunset they were marched outside the town and every man shot in cold blood.

This procedure was repeated in about eighty Armenian villages in the district north of lake Van, and in three days 24,000 Armenians were murdered in this atrocious fashion.

TYPICAL EPISODE.

A single episode illustrates the unspeakable depravity of Turkish methods. A conflict having broken out at Sindak, Djevdet Bey, who had meanwhile returned to Van, asked four of the leading Armenian citizens to go to this town and attempt to quiet the multitude. These men made the trip, stopping at all Armenian villages along the way, urging everybody to keep public order. After completing their work these four Armenians were murdered in a Kurdish village.

And so when Djevdet Bey, on his return to his official post, demanded that Van furnish him immediately 4,000 soldiers, the people were naturally in no mood to accede to his request. When we consider what had happened before and what happened subsequently there remains little doubt concerning the purpose which underlay this demand. Djevdet, acting in obedience to orders from Constantinople, was preparing to wipe out the whole population, and his purpose in calling for 4,000 able-bodied men was merely to massacre them, so that the rest of the Armenians might have no defenders.

The Armenians, parleying to gain time, offered to furnish five hundred soldiers and to pay exemption money for the rest; now, however, Djevdet began to talk aloud about "rebellion," and his determination to "crush" it at any cost. "If the rebels fire a single shot," he declared, "I shall kill every Christian man, woman, and child, up to here," pointing to his knee.

For some time the Turks had been constructing entrenchments around the Armenian quarter and filling them with soldiers and, in response to this provocation, the Armenians began to make preparations for a defence.

WOMEN ARE SEIZED.

On April 20th, a band of Turkish soldiers seized several Armenian women who were entering the city; a couple of Armenians ran to their assistance and were shot dead. The Turks now opened fire on the Armenian quarters with rifles and artillery; soon a large part of the town was in flames and a regular siege had started. The whole Armenian fighting force consisted of only 1,500 men; they had only 300 rifles and a most inadequate supply of ammunition, while Djevdet had an army of 5,000 men, completely equipped and supplied.

Yet the Armenians fought with the utmost heroism and skill; they had little chance of holding off their enemies indefinitely, but they knew that a Russian army was fighting its way to Van and their utmost hope was that they would be able to defy the besiegers until these Russians arrived. As I am not writing the story of sieges and battles, I cannot describe in detail the numerous acts of individual heroism, the co-operation of the Armenian women, the ardor and energy of the Armenian children, the self-sacrificing zeal of the American missionaries, especially Doctor Usher and his wife and Miss Grace H. Knapp, and the thousand other circumstances that make this terrible month one of the most glorious pages in modern Armenian history.

The wonderful thing about it is that the Armenians triumphed. After nearly five weeks of sleepless fighting, the Russian army suddenly appeared and the Turks fled into the surrounding country, where they found appeasement for their anger by again massacring unprotected Armenian villages.

The destruction of the Armenians in 1915 involved certain difficulties that had not impeded the operations of the Turks in the massacres of 1895 and other years. In these earlier periods the Armenian men had possessed little power or means of resistance. In those days Armenians had not been permitted to have military training, to serve in the Turkish army, or to possess arms.

Enter Music—Exit Worry

When home is reached after a hard day, most of us feel the need of some sort of mental refreshment. The taut nerves must be relaxed and soothed, so as to be in readiness for tomorrow's irritations.

How quickly our fighters in France found out how to relieve the nerve-shattering strain of high-tension living, while in constant danger of sudden death. They instinctively turned to music for relaxation, memories of home, and inspiration for still greater efforts on the morrow. They will want it when they return.

The perfected player-piano brings high-grade artists and their wonderful compositions into the humblest home, and with them come contentment and happiness.

Now is the time to make your home attractive with a reliable instrument, for the boys will soon be back from Over There and will want to sing the old songs over and over again. Do your bit by furnishing the Player.

Can you think of a more appropriate Christmas greeting? The Government has asked you to make your holiday purchases early this year.

We offer a new, reliable Player-Piano, an attractive bench and twelve rolls of music for $515

Your own terms, within reason. The usual Chickering service and guarantee go with it.

This is a cordial invitation to call and hear this high-grade instrument, which we are offering at a special price until the very limited supply is exhausted.

SAVE YOUR HAIR AND BEAUTIFY IT WITH "DANDERINE"

Spend a few cents! Dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

Try this! Hair gets beautiful, wavy and thick in few moments.

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter for a few cents; apply a little as directed, and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised, that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine or eventually—why not now?—Advertisement.

TACKING SIGNS WAS PERILOUS IN STENAY

Youth Was Warned Not to Enter the Town Before the Yanks Took It From Boches

(NOTE: The following is one of several American front dispatches telling of the last week's operations in the great war. They were held up by the censor to let through the more urgent armistice news.)

By DAMON RUNYON.

With the American First Army, Nov. 4 (Delayed).—A brisk youth went bustling down the road leading to the town of Stenay this morning. He was full of business. In one hand he carried a hammer. Under his arm he had a bundle of wooden signs bearing such admonitions as:

"Do your bit. To the right."

"Route—Play the game, obey the men."

These signs are seen by the hundreds along every road in the war area of France. They are for the benefit of truck drivers and teamsters. The youth's part in the great war was to tack the signs to trees and poles as fast as new routes are opened by the army.

He is performing his task with enthusiasm this morning. A doughboy who was one of the many little groups of doughboys strung along the road to Stenay stopped the youth.

"Where are you going?" he demanded.

"I'm going into that town to tack up my signs," said the youth.

"Well, maybe you'd better wait a few minutes until we take it," was the mild suggestion of the doughboy.

Liggett's patrols are rummaging within five-eighths of a mile of Stenay tonight, but so far the town hasn't officially fallen. The patrols' job is to snoop around ahead of the columns and see what's doing. It's about as unhealthful a job as there is in the army. But patrols always get first look at things, anyway.

There was a devilish tough job to be done in front of Sten this morning. It fell to the engineers. Most tough jobs fall to the engineers. The infantry has a song which runs:

The cavalry and artillery
And the lousy engineers,
They wouldn't lick the doughboys
In a hundred thousand years.

But when the foot soldiers come to a place and they can't get over, under or around, it's always the engineers who give them a boost.

The town of Stenay is beyond the River Meuse. The river is normally about as wide as the Arkansas, but it can spread out most abnormally. It is now nearly a thousand yards wide. The Germans have knocked out some of the floodgates, anticipating our arrival. Besides, they had destroyed all bridges.

Liggett's infantrymen, who are becoming semi-amphibious, what with rain and mud and rivers to cross, first made bold to attempt wading the stream. They found that impracticable. The water was too deep.

The Handy Andies of the American army got one pontoon down. A shell knocked it into splinters. The wreckage went bobbing off piecemeal down the river. The engineers got another pontoon into position, machine bullets over them as they American guns putting a canopy of worked.

A HOME RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR

How to Make an Inexpensive Mixture That Will Darken Streaked or Faded Gray Hair.

Gray, streaked or faded hair can be immediately made black, brown or light brown, whichever shade you desire, by the use of the following remedy that you can make at home:

Merely get a small box of Orlex powder at any drug store. It costs very little and no extras to buy. Dissolve it in water and comb it through the hair. Full directions for mixing and use come in each box.

You need not hesitate to use Orlex as a $100.00 gold bond comes in each box guaranteeing the user that Orlex powder does not contain silver, lead, zinc, sulphur, mercury, aniline, coal-tar products or their derivatives.

It does not rub off, is not sticky or gummy and leaves the hair fluffy. It will make a gray haired person look twenty years younger.

SANFORDS GINGER

Purest and best of warming stomachics for colds, chills, grip or influenza. Comforts weak stomachs, bowels, and nerves. Protects the traveler. Keep it on hand. When in doubt take a dose. Always helpful and healthful.

Look for Our Trade Mark on the wrapper, lest you get a worthless substitute. Forty-six years the standard of purity, flavor and strength. Never travel without it. Sold everywhere.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, at very little cost. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Advertisement.

How To Avoid INFLUENZA

Nothing you can do will so effectually protect you against the Influenza or Grippe epidemic as keeping your organs of digestion and elimination active and your system free from poisonous accumulations.

Doctors and health authorities everywhere are warning people of the danger of constipation, and advising, and urging everyone to see that the bowels and other eliminative organs act freely and regularly.

Ordinary laxatives, purges and cathartics, salts, oils, calomel and the like, are good enough to clean out the system, but do not strengthen the weakened organs; they do not build up vitality.

Why don't you begin right today to overcome constipation and get your system in such shape that you can feel reasonably sure of resisting disease. You can do so if you will just get a 25c. box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and take one each night for a while.

NR Tablets do much more than merely cause pleasant, easy bowel action. This medicine acts upon the digestive as well as eliminative organs, promotes good digestion, causes the body to get the nourishment from all the food you eat, gives you a good, hearty appetite, strengthens the liver, overcomes biliousness, regulates kidney and bowel action and gives the whole body a thorough cleaning out. This accomplished you will not have to take medicine every day. An occasional NR Tablet will keep your body in condition and you can always feel your best. Sold and recommended by druggists.

COLLEGES GIVEN BEQUESTS BY SAGE WILL

Charitable Institutions Are Also Remembered; Brother Receives $8,000,000

New York, Nov. 14.—Four-fifths of the $50,000,000 estate of the late Mrs. Russell Sage is to be divided among thirty charitable and educational institutions named in her will which was filed in the surrogate's court of New York County.

Joseph Jermain Slocum, brother of Mrs. Sage, receives a bequest of $8,000,000, of which $1,000,000 is to be held in trust during his life, the remainder to be divided among his children or their heirs.

Each servant who had been in the employ of Mrs. Sage for ten years or more at the time of her death received $5,000, while those who had been in her employ for five years or more receive $2,500 each.

The $40,000,000 set aside for charitable and educational purposes is divided into fifty-two equal parts. Seven parts will go to the Russell Sage Foundation which was established by Mrs. Sage in 1907 by a donation of $10,000,000. The Troy Female Seminary will get two parts in addition to a special bequest of $50,000.

When You Buy the Advertiser-American Sunday Morning, You Are Actually Buying TWO Newspapers For the Price of ONE

The Magazine Section of the Sunday ADVERTISER-AMERICAN is a newspaper in itself, a twelve-page journal telling the pictured story of recent discoveries in the field of science, chronicling in lively manner an escapade or two of Master Dan Cupid among the darlings of the world, and finally, setting forth the freshest offerings of the best short-story writers.

Before you reach the Magazine—unique, we maintain, among feature sections—you have already enjoyed a complete—New England's greatest—Sunday newspaper.

In the Main Section, the news—ALL the news—either from the best reporters in New England or direct from the wires of Universal Service AND the Associated Press.

The ADVERTISER-AMERICAN is the only Sunday newspaper in New England receiving the complete wire service of both the great news-gathering associations. It is impossible for the ADVERTISER-AMERICAN to be "beaten" on BIG news.

Then there are the Society pages (Mrs C. K. Washburn), the Music pages (Prof. Louis C. Elson), the Drama pages (E. F. Harkins), and the Sport pages (J. B. Gillooly)—each in charge of an expert of acknowledged pre-eminence.

A Complete Sunday Newspaper Before You Pick Up the MAGAZINE SECTION

Ever Do Anything Foolish?

Certainly you have. Everybody has.

BUT we venture to say, for instance, that you've never impulsively leaped into a hurrying taxicab with a door swinging wide open just because you wondered where the cab was going?

We leave that sort of thing to characters in fiction, and we read adventure stories with the greatest interest and delight.

Well, that's exactly what Robert Harvey Randolph did—partly because he was tired of doing the ordinary work-a-day things and partly because he didn't have anything else to do at the time.

"Taxi" is just a corking story—no propaganda, no moralizing—just a good, honest, open-faced, rollicking yarn that keeps you reading and guessing to find out what really did happen when—

You'll find this story in December Cosmopolitan. It was written by George Agnew Chamberlain, a new comer and a welcome one in the world's greatest magazine.

And then, of course, you'll find all your old favorites in the same number too—all great, all world famous, all up to Cosmopolitan's standard. Here they are:

Why Compare Beef and Coal Profits?

Swift & Company has frequently stated that its profit on beef averages only one-fourth of a cent a pound, and hence has practically no effect on the price.

Comparison has been made by the Federal Trade Commission of this profit with the profit on coal, and it has pointed out that anthracite coal operators are content with a profit of 25 cents a ton, whereas the beef profit of one-fourth of a cent a pound means a profit of $5.00 a ton.

The comparison does not point out that anthracite coal at the seaboard is worth at wholesale about $7.00 a ton, whereas a ton of beef of fair quality is worth about $400.00 wholesale.

To carry the comparison further, the 25 cent profit on coal is 3½ per cent of the $7.00 value.

The $5.00 profit on beef is only 1¼ per cent of the $400.00 value.

The profit has little effect on price in either case, but has less effect on the price of beef than on the price of coal.

Coal may be stored in the open air indefinitely; beef must be kept in expensive coolers because it is highly perishable and must be refrigerated.

Coal is handled by the carload or ton; beef is delivered to retailers by the pound or hundred weight.

Methods of handling are vastly different. Coal is handled in open cars; beef must be shipped in refrigerator cars at an even temperature.

Fairness to the public, fairness to Swift & Company, fairness to the packing industry, demands that these indisputable facts be considered. It is impossible to disprove Swift & Company's statement, that its profits on beef are so small as to have practically no effect on prices.

CHAPTER XLIII.

AT breakfast the next morning I asked Jim how Virginia had [illegible] the flowers.

"What flowers?" asked Jim. "Why, you sweet kiddie, I believe you sent her some. They must have come after I left. [illegible] I'll hug you for doing just that."

"It's really Neal you should hug. The idea was his and so was the money that paid for the posies. He wouldn't let me do anything but select them and write the card," I [illegible]

"What a dear little [illegible] it's so exact in its [illegible] I [illegible] high good humor. Well, I [illegible] to bang [illegible] the bathroom door before I leave and tell the swimmer within what a decent young fellow I think him. I'm getting downright fond of our Neal."

I [illegible] this into an omen that Jim's beautiful sister would soon be [illegible] fond of [illegible] and [illegible] the phone [illegible] after Jim's departure as I [illegible] thirty seemed the ideal hour to call the Rochambeau—early enough to be friendly and [illegible] enough [illegible] give Neal a chance to speak to Phoebe, and still not early enough to have an alarm-clock [illegible]

Was Wrong

But I was wrong. Phoebe's whispers told me how [illegible] and told me also that [illegible] after a bad night. She thanked me for [illegible] and young Neal [illegible] without a word to Phoebe.

Then [illegible] I trotted off in high good spirits [illegible] whirling through the day's occupations [illegible] the [illegible] and I were in order by 10 and by quarter past the elevator at the Rochambeau deposited me on the seventh floor.

When I had [illegible] Phoebe, almost two hours before, I heard the telephone operator at the Rochambeau say "718." So I made a mental note of that and with a pleasant [illegible] feeling of [illegible] I went up without being announced.

But it seemed to be as bad a blunder as phoning at 8:30 had been.

Virginia was in a graceful peignoir of amber silk and soft lace and though she looked lovely enough for all the world to behold [illegible] was something too terribly informal about [illegible] before me at breakfast and in breakfast negligee.

From the moment of my first faux pas everything that could manage to go wrong proceeded to do so. Next in order of the "horrors" that took the sunshine out of the day was a sudden glimpse I caught of a vase full of wilted flowers. Before I could turn my startled eyes away from that dejected looking mass on the tea table Virginia began thanking me for my gift.

"Those dreadful things!" I cried. "They're not what we selected at all. I'm going right over and give that florist a piece of my mind."

"Oh, I wouldn't do that," [illegible] Virginia coldly.

How I ever got up the courage after that, I don't know, but I managed to offer to go along shopping if that were agreeable. Virginia and I [illegible] both [illegible] to lunch with me.

Virginia accepted [illegible] but Phoebe ran over and gave me a [illegible]

"Did you explain to Neal [illegible] his flowers [illegible] to speak to him [illegible]"

"Well—hardly, Phoebe [illegible] I said."

We spent two hours at [illegible] interior decorators, but never once in all that time did Virginia ask Phoebe's opinion [illegible] she makes her own decisions.

Select Place

In keeping with that observation I asked [illegible] to select the place where we should lunch [illegible] was setting more absolute [illegible] for a woman than the [illegible] elegance of Carlier's, the restaurant of her [illegible] was for Virginia Dalton.

"[illegible] perfect [illegible]

It will be, I'm sure [illegible] Virginia orders the lunch [illegible] with the intent to [illegible] and to give myself the difficulties of dealing with the menu and the smart [illegible] deferential waiting our pleasure.

Then, as I sat back in turn and began to drink in the quiet elegance of the place and the [illegible] people all about us, my mind focused on what Virginia was saying, and my eyes wandered back to the menu in front of me. [illegible] calculation in mental arithmetic followed:

Clams for three	$1.20
Bread and butter	.30
Eggs benedictine	1.80
Victory salad	1.60
Coffee	.75
Total	$5.65

And in my purse there was the $5 Neal had given me a week before—the $5 and a little silver. Less than enough to pay that check.

Counterfeits.

Read what one of the GREATEST NEWSPAPERS IN AMERICA has to say on this subject:

"The manufacturers of Castoria have been compelled to spend hundreds of thousands of dollars to familiarize the public with the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. This has been necessitated by reason of pirates counterfeiting the Castoria trade-mark. This counterfeiting is a crime not only against the proprietors of Castoria, but against the growing generation. All persons should be careful to see that Castoria bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher, if they would guard the health of their children. Parents, and mothers in particular, ought to carefully examine the Castoria advertisements which have been appearing in this paper, and to remember that the wrapper of every bottle of genuine Castoria bears the fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher, under whose supervision it has been manufactured continuously for over thirty years.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Letters from Prominent Druggists addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Conger Bros. of St. Paul, Minn., say: "Fletcher's Castoria is certainly full of merit and worthy of recommendation."

C. G. A. Loder, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "For 30 years we have sold Fletcher's Castoria and are pleased to state that it has given universal satisfaction."

The Scholtz Drug Co., of Denver, Colo., says: "Fletcher's Castoria has surely become a household word. Seemingly every family where there are children uses it."

Hoagland & Mansfield, of Boston, Mass., say: "We have nothing but good to say about your Castoria and we do not hesitate to give it our unqualified endorsement."

Riker's Drug Stores, of New York City, say: "Fletcher's Castoria is one of the oldest and most popular preparations in our stores. We have nothing but good to say about it."

Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., of St. Louis, Mo., says: "Of the thousands of patent medicines for which we have demand there are a very few of them that we can conscientiously recommend and your Castoria is included in this few."

D. R. Dyche & Co., of Chicago, Ills., say: "The increasing demand for your Castoria shows that a discriminating public is not slow to seek out a remedy of merit and once convinced that it does all and even more than claimed they do not hesitate to recommend it to their friends."

The Owl Drug Co., of San Francisco, Cal., says: "We have always been a believer in the 'original man protection' and have been particular never to sell anything but the genuine and original Castoria (Fletcher's). We have many calls every day for this article from people who say they would not be without it in their homes."

ARTIFICIAL EYES

BEFORE the war the only country to make artificial eyes was Germany, where England bought 2,000 every year.

A few [illegible] has "made eyes" for England [illegible] France [illegible] the [illegible] of [illegible] being painted under the [illegible] of rounded glass fixed [illegible] The life of such eyes, however, was found to be considerably shorter than that of the glass eye, which will usually retain its brightness and naturalness for about two years.

It is given to few persons outside the charmed circle of makers to watch the artist at work. It is highly profitable work, for a maker operating on his own account, and having well appointed consultation rooms can [illegible] $5,000 a year.

[illegible] are [illegible] tube [illegible] matter. A length of tube is so manipulated over the flame that a bulb forms at its extremity. Heated to a given temperature the round end of this bulb becomes transparent and eventually assumes the "white" of the eye.

Then, by means of the skillful use of the color sticks, a kind of thread-like circle of lighter tints, the iris is formed [illegible] of black in the centre and the pupil reveals itself. All this time the artist's eyes have been intently watching the blending of the radial tints of the iris [illegible] the [illegible] over the flame of the lamp, for upon the correct [illegible] of temperature everything [illegible]

Presently the process has reached a stage at which the [illegible] formation is changed by concentrating the flame upon that portion of it nearest to the tube. First it assumes the shape somewhat resembling a small mushroom with a long stem.

Then the latter is melted off and the general formation and interior of the eye bear the appearance of a shell with certain parts thickened by means of special tools to form a patented arrangement, enabling the wearer to control the eye and to move it in perfect unison with the action of the real one.

By this time the eye is complete, with the exception of the cornea and the very fine veins (to be noticed in most natural eyes). The former consists of a skilfully applied layer of clear glass and the latter are put on with [illegible] threads of red glass, similar to that used in forming the iris. The eye is now finished, the operation having taken about half an hour.

"What did Noah do [illegible] the Ark?" asked the teacher.

"He spent his time fishin'," [illegible] adding: "But he didn't catch nuthin'."

"Really," said the teacher. "Why not?"

"Hadn't enough bait," answered the [illegible] only two worms."

No Luck

The unlucky one was telling his troubles to a sympathetic friend.

"No leave, no letters, no blinking flights, no luck at all!"

"Never mind, you'll soon be dead."

"Yes," said the unlucky one, "and if I was dead now, and on my way to heaven, I'll bet I'd be brought down by anti-aircraft!"

The Doctor's Advice

by Dr. Lewis Baker

[illegible] questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply in any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Elwood streets, Dayton, Ohio, enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious names will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

"Nerves" writes: "Is it possible to find a medicine which by its tonic or nutritive powers will bring the glow of health and ambition back to a man who has everything in the world but health and happiness? I am dull, forgetful, despondent, weak, trembling, short of breath and suffer more or less with pain in spine and back of head."

Answer: Your condition indicates the need of a strong, harmless tonic nutritive to restore nerve equilibrium, which in turn fortifies and strengthens the organs of nutrition, thus vitalizing the blood and promoting new cell and tissue to take care of the waste forces. Three-grain cadomene tablets, packed in sealed tubes with full directions, are recommended in all such cases.

Mrs. L. O. writes: "My husband is surely afflicted with some kidney disease. He has become weak and suffers with headache and pains in his back and groins. Pains are like rheumatism. His ankles swell and his feet seem to be tired all the time. Some days he has chills and no appetite. Please prescribe."

Answer: The symptoms indicate derangement of kidneys and should not be neglected. I would advise balmwort tablets, a compound well suited to such cases. Obtain in sealed tubes with directions for home use.

Adele writes: "My hair is combing out, my scalp itches and dandruff is much annoying and I want something to cure these conditions."

Answer: For hair and scalp troubles I have never found anything to equal the beneficial results of a thorough treatment of plain yellow minyol. It is cooling, cleansing and invigorating, and thousands now use it regularly as a hair and scalp tonic.

* * *

S. F. writes: "Two years ago I used your great prescription for kidney trouble and it wholly overcame the trouble. I want help now for [illegible] impure blood, for I am [illegible] with pimples that make big [illegible] sores."

Answer: I would advise the taking of three-grain sulpherb tablets (not sulphur) for several months to purify the system.

* * *

"Bob" writes: "Can a sufferer from bronchial trouble be relieved? Doctors do not seem to help me, what would you suggest?"

Answer: To relieve chronic cold, sore throat, bronchitis, I would advise the use of concentrated essence mentho-laxene. Purchase this at any drug store in 2½ oz. packages and mix according to directions given on bottle and you will very shortly be relieved of all bronchial trouble. This will not only relieve, but will correct, and is very pleasant to take.

NOTE: For many years Dr. Baker has been giving free advice and prescriptions to millions of people through the press columns and doubtless has helped in relieving illness and distress more than any single individual in the world's history. Thousands have written him expressions of gratitude and confidence similar to the following:

Dr. Lewis Baker. Dear Sir:—I am glad I was recommended to your prescription for medicine. I was pretty well run down, nervous and loss of ambition; felt tired all the time; could not sleep, loss of appetite, felt weak and trembled from weakness. I find three-grain cadomene tablets are helping me very much. I was writing to my sister about my run-down condition and she advised me to take your prescription of medicine, for she was as bad as I was and the Cadomene built her nerves up and also restored her health. I am more than thankful, etc. Yours truly,

GEORGE SCHILLO,

Just for a Button a Goal Was Lost

NOTE WRITING LEADS HER TO STAGE

By FRED J. McISAAC.

Ruth Gordon, the baby-talk lady of "Seventeen," went to see Hazel Dawn in "Up In Mabel's Room" yesterday afternoon, it being a day off for the folks at the Plymouth Theatre who have their matinee on Thursday.

What of it? you ask.

Thereby hangs a tale. Miss Gordon told it to me during an intermission of "Seventeen."

"You know I came from here originally," she explained. "My folks lived in Quincy, and I was going to school when 'The Pink Lady,' came to Boston. A lot of us girls went to see the show and we all got crushed on Miss Dawn because she looked so lovely in her pink and sang so sweetly, and played so beautifully on the violin.

WROTE MASH NOTES.

"When we got home we all wrote her mash notes, and mine was the only one she answered. It was the success of that experience which decided me that I wanted to go on the stage. Do you know we corresponded for four years without ever meeting, and when we did meet we were fast friends. And do you know its a shame the kind of roles that Hazel has been getting lately, because she is the most modest, thing, and I know she must nearly die because of the dreadful situations in Mabel's room.

"How long have you been on the stage?"

"Three seasons. I was with one of the 'Fair and Warmer' companies last season playing Madge Kennedy's role."

"How did you happen to be the baby-talk lady?"

"They had a lot of difficulty finding just the right type for this part. Mr. Walker tried one or two girls before he got me. You know I am not the right type either, because Willie talks all the time about my beautiful blue eyes, and they are brown. Look!"

Sure enough they were.

"And my hair ought to be very blond, and it's just light brown. I am sure I don't know why they liked me. I suppose it was because I could get my tongue around all the silly syllables of the part and I could play the ingenue pretty well.

"Does Floppit belong to you?"

"Oh, no, he belongs to the company, but isn't he the dearest thing?"

"What kind of a dog is he, anyway?"

DOGS KNOWS COE.

"Why I don't know. I think he's an 'Indiana Special,'" said Miss Gordon with a laugh. "There is a town in Indiana where those dogs are for sale at $12 each. He is the most intelligent pup you ever saw. When he barks in the wings during the dog fight with Clem, I just have to give him a tiny poke and he seems to know it's his cue. The rest of the time he doesn't pay any attention to Clem at all.

"You know I have my own idea of the kind of girl the Baby Talk Lady was. I think she was a sort of budding Becky Sharp. She couldn't have been having much of a time in that stupid little town, and yet she stayed there. There must have been some special reason to make her stay."

"I should think having three or four boys crazy about her would be enough."

"Yes, but it was such a stupid place, I told Mr. Tarkington my idea and asked him if there wasn't some special reason to keep her there so long, and he said he hadn't thought about it, but, yet, maybe so."

Mr. Tarkington is the author and creator of the Baby Talk Lady.

XMAS PACKAGES GOING OVERSEAS AS PLANNED

Holiday packages for soldiers overseas will be sent as planned before the armistice was signed, according to a statement by Mrs. George S. Derby, chairman of the committee on Christmas parcels of the Boston Metropolitan Chapter, American Red Cross. Mrs. Derby protested against a report that Red Cross officials had been refusing cartons to relatives of soldiers holding coupons from members of the 101st Regiment. There is no official ground for belief that the soldiers will be home before Christmas, she stated.

BOSTON AMERICAN SPORTS

DEVENS TO HAVE PULL IN WEIGHT

Camp Devens' rush line from tackle to tackle will outweigh their Naval Radio School rivals ten pounds to the man in Saturday afternoon's big service game at Harvard Stadium for the benefit of the United War Work campaign.

Ryan, husky cook, whose doughnuts are snapped up like ladies' fingers at Devens, is a slashing tackle, plays his position low and charges like a bull on a red-letter day. Being merely a cook and in the company of ten officers hasn't disturbed Ryan enough to spoil his 100 per cent play.

Opposing Ryan will be Ken Danskin 185-pound Cornell star of three years' seasoning. Danskin has never yet been outplayed, and he says his record will be without blemish the remainder of the season. Saturday will tell.

STRONG MEN IN LINE.

Sergeant Davis, former University of Maine player, at left tackle, is also a jim-dandy, and Lieutenant Cobb, who was a fellow collegian of Davis, before entering the service, and now plays the guard next to his position, will keep Alan Bartlett and Ned de Gree, their Radio rivals, busy.

At centre, Robbins, former Tufts crack, and O. K. Cox, the brass pounders' nifty pivot, will battle it out. It is safe to forecast that no armistice will be signed until the "time up" whistle blows.

Brinker of Ohio State and Lieutenant Traylor, old-time University of Texas star, as opposing players, should have a lively battle.

If Captain Kausche and Lieutenant Seeley expect their opposing ends, Jack Clifford and Walt Ryan, to stand at attention every time they try to stride around the wings, they will be sadly mistaken.

Sergeant Jack Malone, whom Waltham calls its own, a former Worcester Academy star, and last year on the crack Syracuse eleven, will pilot the visiting soldiery.

HERE'S OLD GREEN HERO.

Captain George Hoban, who is also the leader of the team, while scarcely in his Dartmouth and Lehigh form, is fast rounding into shape, and the Cambridge ends will have to keep both eyes and legs busy seeing he doesn't get too gay with the sector they are guarding. Lieutenant Burke of Holy Cross is the third back. He, too, is a dependable player.

SCHOOL ELEVENS STAGE TWO BIG GAMES TODAY

The Boston Latin-Dorchester High game at Fenway Park was the feature of today's high school gridiron menu. Play at 2:15 o'clock. Cambridge Latin and Brookline High were slated to battle at Russell Field.

Girl Hockey Teams Tie

The Winchester and Arlington High School girls' hockey teams played to a 2-2 tie on the former's field. The game was clearly the most exciting one of the season.

BOXING GOSSIP

THE BOYS who appeared at the United War Work show at the Arena deserve praise. Those who were advertised and didn't show up—well, the promoters should keep them in mind.

* * *

CHEER UP, ye fans! Now that the big fuss is over some of the regular fighters will soon be back.

* * *

BULLETIN FROM Eddie Mack says that as soon as Bill Hohenzollern got wind that Eddie and his gang were over there he jumped over the ropes.

* * *

IF THE Commercial A. C. directors keep to their promise, the fans will see some real milling at the War Fund show tomorrow night. They have given instructions to Referee Larry Conley to put a stop to any bout that isn't up to snuff.

* * *

JOHNNY DUNDEE against Joe Currie and Young Sacco for five rounds apiece at the Marlboro Driving Club. Both will get a good trouncing if they figure on showing up Johnny. He may be in the habit of carrying boys along in a regular fight, but none of the smaller fry is going to boost reputations at his expense. Dundee is not to be blamed, either.

* * *

SH-H-H! If any of you fans want to see some action, take in the hockey games at St. Mary's Gymnasium.

* * *

LOCAL FANS will have their first opportunity to see a regular, honest-to-goodness Indian fighter in action when Clay Turner hooks up with Kid Norfolk at the Arena next Tuesday night. Judging from past performances, Clay is anything but soft.

* * *

JIMMY FRIZETTI isn't tackling anything easy for his first professional battle in meeting Charley Parker. They were pretty evenly matched in amateur ranks, but Charley has shown much more class since joining the money-chasers.

* * *

THE ARMORY A. A. directors, Miah Murray, Dan Lane and Ivy Lewis, each came through with $25 for the War Work fund.

* * *

JOHNNY DUNDEE and Joe Welling are booked for the feature bout at the Armory A. A., Nov. 26. Forfeits of $250 are going up, it is reported, that the boys will make 135 pounds at 8 o'clock the night of the scrap.

Ten Years Ago in Sport

WITH the world's swiftest bicycle riders performing, the Park Square Coliseum indoor track will open tonight. The feature event is the fifteen-mile motor-paced race between Elmer Collins of Lynn and Jimmy Moran of Chelsea. Foreign riders will be seen in abundance. (Who had the honor of winning the motor-paced race, Elmer or Jimmy? You first-nighters should remember. We do.)

* * *

JEM DRISCOLL, making his first appearance in an American ring, proved too speedy for Mattie Baldwin in their six-round bout at the Fairmont A. C., New York. Driscoll proved himself a marvel in cleverness. (Miah Murray of the Armory A. A. has the pair matched up here for November 24.)

* * *

FRED CORBETT of Philadelphia outpointed Willie Moody in six rounds at the State A. C., Philadelphia. (Young Corbett was to have met his namesake, but probably got lost in New York.)

* * *

CHARLES F. BARKER of Boston again successfully defended his title of checker champion by drawing in five games with Joseph Drouillard at Kansas City. Barker won the tournament and a side bet of $2,500. (What do you know about that! Out in our town they only play for matches.)

* * *

ALBERT CUTLER of Boston won the final block of the 750-point 18.2 balkline billiard match with Peterson. Grand totals: Cutler, 750; Peterson, 669.

* * *

PENN and Michigan meet in their fourth annual football game this afternoon. Penn won all the previous games. (Yes, and I'll bet Penn won this one, too.)

* * *

FRED LAKE, manager of the Red Sox, denies the story that Lou Criger is to be sold to the Chicago White Sox for $10,000. Nothing to it, declared Mr. Lake. (We knew they wouldn't part with Lou. Yes, we did —not. Do you recollect what became of him?)

* * *

FRANK GOTCH, American wrestler, and George Hackandalotofotherletters were matched today in London. They will meet some time in March.

* * *

AT the B. A. A. amateur boxing tournament, Henry Hall secured a clean-cut victory over Andrew Morris in a special bout. In the 145-pound class, J. Miley gave Joe Burchell a neat lacing.

* * *

JOHNNY HAYES, Marathon hero at the Olympic games in London, says he thinks he'll be able to beat Dorando, Italian flyer, in Madison Square Garden, Thanksgiving Day. (How was his old thinking machine working?)

* * *

O. F. C., NEEDHAM—Yes, we were acquainted with the old chap who refused to give over $1 for any 85-cent hat in the store. He did not belong in Brick Bottom.

The Boston roller polo five, exhibiting the best of teamwork and putting up a dazzling attack, registered a 5-4 victory over Worcester at the Arena. Alexander Hardy and Williams were the heroes for the home team, with Higgins pretty nearly the whole show for the visitors.

The season opened at Quincy with the home team defeating Cambridge, 6-2. Mayor Whitten was the guest of honor and praised the sport in a neat little address.

TIE FOR BEST GROSS IN FOURSOME AT WOLLASTON

Mrs. Ralph Hammer of Flushing, L. I., and J. R. Bowker, Woodland Club, tied with Mrs. J. D. Woodfin, Brae-Burn, and A. M. Hoxie, Wollaston, at 87 for the best gross score in the open mixed foursome tournament at the Wollaston Golf Club, Montclair. They will play off for the prize tomorrow.

A popular victory was credited to Mrs. Hazel B. Cole, Bellevue, and F. G. Thayer, Wollaston, when they received the prize for the best net after being only one stroke behind for the best gross prize.

ST. MARY'S MIDGETS ARE BOOKING NEW SCHEDULE

The St. Mary's Midgets of Dorchester, one of the fastest members of basketball's 80-90-pound division in Greater Boston, are arranging the 1918-19 schedule. At home games are sought at once. Address Manager Ralph H. Johnson, No. 4 Trent street, Dorchester.

COACH BLAKE IS GIVING EXETER FINAL POLISH

Exeter, N. H., Nov. 1.—Coach Blake and Trainer Connors of the Exeter eleven confidently expect to have all their cripples, with the exception of James McAnulty, right guard, who broke a bone in his ankle in the U. S. S. New Jersey game last week, in tip-top shape for the Andover battle Saturday.

Arthur Hobson of Haverhill, Mass., who has been playing left tackle, is limping, but will probably be "right" for the big battle. However, in case he does not play, his position will be filled by George Bowers.

While Exeter's line will average a trifle lighter than last Fall, the backfield is four pounds heavier per man. Much is expected from James Kennedy of Boston, and Ralph Gilroy, former Haverhill High player, the two halfbacks, and Arthur Barry of Peabody, Mass., quarterback.

Exeter expects a close game, and is preparing for the dazzling attack of the Andover eleven, in which Captain Francis Adams plays an important part. Neidlander and Wolfe also are expected to shine for Andover.

The last two contests between the two schools were stiffly played, Exeter winning 6-0 and 3-0.

Andover Has Final Drill for Exeter Game and Staff of Coaches Is Satisfied

Andover, Nov. 14.—Andover took its final workout for the Exeter game behind locked gates and the session is reported to have been eminently satisfactory to the coaches.

Only light work was programmed for today and tomorrow. Tomorrow night the annual mass meeting will be held in Borden Gym. Andover's probable lineup:

Williams, re.; Strong, lt.; Smith, rg.; E. Wilson, c.; Davis, lg.; Whipple, lt.; Eddy, le.; Adams (captain), qb.; Neidlinger, lhb.; Dann, rhb.; F. Wilson, fb.

OED IN FOR PELHAM IN BATTLE WITH NEWPORT

New York, Nov. 14.—Quarterback Oed, former star, has returned to his position on the Pelham Bay Naval Station eleven. Coach Frank Bergin is busy drilling the squad in formations that will be used against Newport in Saturday's game at New Haven, Ct. Pelham Bay came out of Sunday's contest with the Peekskill team in tiptop condition, and now that Oed is back at the helm the tars consider their machine invincible.

PENN HAS FINAL DRILL FOR BATTLE WITH PITT

Philadelphia, Nov. 14.—Penn had its last football scrimmage prior to the game with Pittsbrugh Saturday. The success of the scrubs in holding the varsity and breaking up forward passes was excused on the ground that they knew the signals and could tell just what was coming. The Red and Blue showed unusual strength on the defensive.

TWO CLASS AA LEAGUES ARE PLANNED FOR 1919

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 14.—Report has it the baseball club owners in attendance at the meeting of the National Association are preparing to build two big class AA circuits for next year.

If all goes well, Louisville, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Peoria, Wichita, Kansas City, Des Moines and St. Joseph will be in one wheel, and Baltimore, Toronto, Milwaukee, Buffalo, Newark, Indianapolis, Columbus and Toledo in the other circuit.

PLYMOUTH FIVE READY TO BATTLE ALL RIVALS

The Plymouth, Mass., basketball five is back in the field with its old star lineup practically intact and wants to hear from all fast service teams in and around Boston. The five was enumerated with the strongest in the State last season and is banking upon having another winner. For games, address Manager F. Price, Plymouth, Mass.

WESLEYAN AND COLUMBIA WILL PLAY IN NEW YORK

New York, Nov. 14.—The Columbia and Wesleyan elevens will meet on South Field Saturday. The game will take the place of the Stevens-Columbia contest, which Stevens cancelled because of difficulties in getting a team together.

New York, Nov. 14.—Jack Dempsey, leading contender for the heavyweight championship, will box at the big show to be held in Madison Square Garden Saturday night.

"Dempsey is ready to box in New York Saturday night," phoned Jack Kearns, his manager, to Charley Harvey. "Furthermore, get the best heavyweight you can for him."

$60,000 Offer for A. A. Ball Club Goes Begging

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 14.—William (commonly known as Bill) Rourke of the Omaha club has offered $60,000 for an American Association franchise, it was announced today at the minor league conference here.

Rourke offered to pay that amount for the franchise alone, no players included. While there were no takers of the offer, it is still open.

Through a prospective readjustment of the minor league players' salaries, it looks as if they are in line for a cut.

A committee has been named to regulate the salaries of the American Association, the Pacific Coast league and the International club.

DUNDEE-WELLING BOUT ADDED TO GARDEN CARD

New York, Nov. 14.—Lightweight Johnny Dundee has been relieved by Philadelphia officials from boxing at its patriotic show Saturday night, and as a result will be able to go on with Joe Welling, Chicago 135-pounder, at the big War Fund Campaign show in Madison Square Garden. Jack Bulger, Welling's manager, was to put up a $250 forfeit today, guaranteeing that his charge will come in at 135 pounds ringside.

FRED THOMAS HEADED FOR OFFICERS' SCHOOL

Word from the Great Lakes Naval Training Station has it that Fred Thomas, Red Sox third baseman, has taken his examination for the officers' school. Boston Herald and the I. and R. Supporters

The Boston Herald, speaking of the Initiative and Referendum victory, says that, in addition to the Democrats, Mr. MacFarland, attorney for the Boston AMERICAN, was "able to gather behind him a number of Republicans who are habitually looking, in the words of the epistle, for 'some new thing.' The Initiative and Referendum fills an important place in the thoughts of the mentally unemployed, or rather of those whose minds are not operating to capacity."

Is this meant to include such advocates of the Initiative and Referendum as Speaker Channing Cox, Lieutenant-Governor-elect; former Speaker Joseph Walker, himself recently standard bearer of the Republican party; former Speaker and Lieutenant-Governor Louis A. Frothingham, also recently standard bearer of the Republican party; Attorney-General Attwill, perhaps the most admired and respected Republican that has ever acted as legal adviser to the Governor and the Legislature; Executive Councillors Henry L. Bowles, Alexander McGregor of Malden and Edmund Mortimer of Grafton, shrewd and successful Republican business men like Charles Sumner Bird, Alvan T. Fuller and Ralph S. Bauer; eminent Harvard professors like Albert Bushnell Hart, Lewis Jerome Johnson and Arthur N. Holcombe; ex-Senators Samuel Ross, John W. Haigis, Sanford Bates, Louis F. Langelier and Ezra W. Clark; Frank P. Bennett, ex-Mayors Bruce of Everett and Curtis of Revere—and a hundred other independent and patriotic citizens that the Republican party has with good reason felt itself fortunate in being able to secure as advisers and as representatives in office?

If the Herald had contented itself with alleging that Mr. MacFarland has for many years been insistant in season and out of season in urging upon all with whom he came in contact the imperative need of breaking the strangle-hold of the corporation lobby by the adoption of the Initiative and Referendum it would have been entirely within bounds. In branding as mental imbeciles and blind followers of a bell-wether the independent Republicans, who are both the brains and the saving element of the party in Massachusetts, it appears to be making a tactical mistake, to say the least.

The American Congratulates The Boston Police

We are prone to refer to our police force as men of brawn and courage. Seldom do we consider them as examples of gentleness. Their scrapbooks are not replete with clippings praising their patience and forbearance.

We have become so accustomed to having them employ physical force bravely and timely that we have not given them due credit for virtues of greater worth.

When they err, criticism is unsparing, but when they perform difficult duties properly they receive but little if any praise.

But the AMERICAN cannot refrain at this time from paying its tribute to Superintendent Michael H. Crowley and every man of his command for their splendid work on Monday and Tuesday of this week.

Boston's streets were never so congested. Boston people were never so delirious. Such riots of joy have never been seen. Tumult was the order of the days.

The end of the greatest war in history was being celebrated. The assurance of enduring peace for all the peoples of the world was being celebrated.

Staid old Boston went wild with happiness, but this newspaper has yet to hear of a single police officer who lost his head. During all the storm they stood as monuments of calmness and good nature, advising and guiding, extending helping hands in every direction, proving their worth by gentle methods.

The AMERICAN is proud of them, and the good people of this grand old city should be very proud of them.

Gentlemen of the Police Department, please receive the hearty congratulations of the AMERICAN and the people of Boston.

The Drive for the United War Work

Copyright, 1918, Star Company.

The United War Work drive opened Monday. It has for its purpose the raising of $170,500,000 for the seven charitable organizations whose activities in the war are officially endorsed and approved by the War and Navy Departments.

The work that is being done by the organizations now seeking aid is of a character that will persist for many months, probably for more than a year after the termination of hostilities, which we have already witnessed.

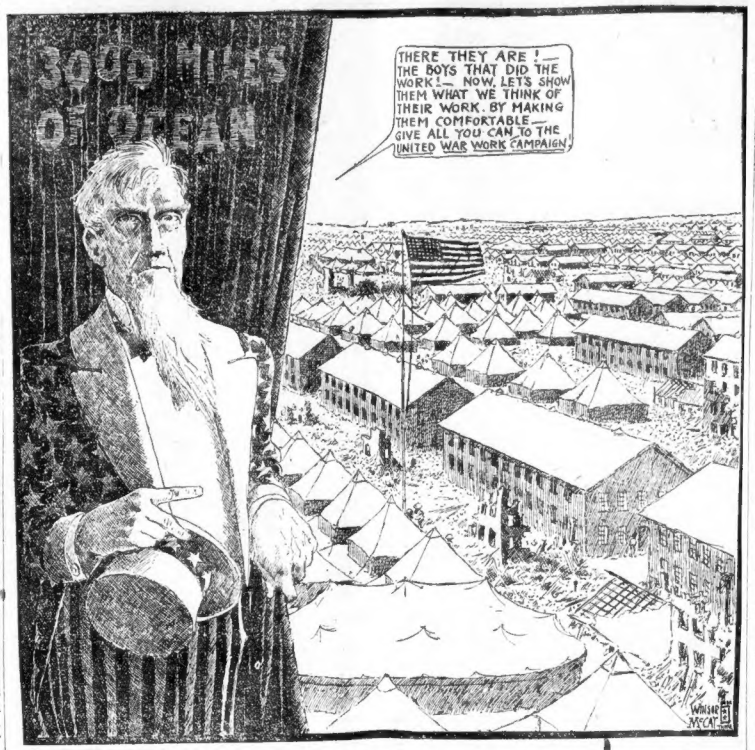

There will be troops in the camps and cantonments at home for months and months before they can be demobilized. If we began immediately the work of bringing home our men in Europe, and prosecuted it with the same speed with which we sent them over, it would require at least six months to get them all back.

But we cannot do that, or anything like it. For the European countries, particularly those that have been defeated in this war, are going to need policing for many months to come. German and Austrian territory must be occupied by some troops until the provisions of the terms of peace, whatever they may prove to be, shall have been complied with.

It is reasonable to believe that the heaviest burden of this police work will fall upon the American army. It is indeed but just that it should be so. For, while we may have delivered the final and determinative strokes in the great war, we came belatedly into that contest. England and France, which bore the brunt of it from the first, are, if not bled white, at least sorely reduced in man power and have vital need for all the men they can withdraw from the field to build up again their shattered industries.

We Must Never Forget Them

"LIFE"

By PAUL HARRIS DRAKE.

Sunset and twilight and darkness,
Midnight and half-light and dawn;
Daylight and sunrise and noonday,
Evening and night—and then morn!

Gladness and sadness and sorrow,
Sweetness and laughter and pain;
Heartache and grieving and yearning,
Suffering and loss—and then gain!

Action, reaction and action,
Sunshine and storm-cloud and rain;
Full-tide and half-tide and ebb-tide—
Over and over again.

Welling and swirling and surging,
The eddying tides of the soul—
Spurning the death of quiescence—
Press swift to a vanishing goal.

After the zenith, receding,
Baring the pathos and strife—
Draining the soul of its fulness—
Slip the dwindling waters of life!

Dark are the ways of the spirit;
Blindly I grope for the light;
Why the eternal procession?
When shall I fathom the night?

Toiling, rejoicing, sorrowing—
Fluid the status of Man—
Baffling the problem prophetic—
Earnest of infinite plan!

DOES THIS APPLY TO YOU?

There are a lot of little things you do not know because you are too proud to ask questions.

Some day you will be greatly embarrassed because of your lack of knowledge of small matters any high school boy does know.

Several times you have squirmed and beat about the bush to prevent certain persons from realizing your deficiencies, but are you awake yet?

Why not get some books and study up along the lines you need?

Nothing to be gained by waiting; and the older you are the harder for you to assimilate knowledge—the greater the risk of being found out.

Of course it is no disgrace to be ignorant if opportunity has been denied you to be better educated, but it is disgraceful to lack knowledge which is yours for the effort.

No one is too old to study, and it is far better for your mental state in old age to have exercised your brain all along the way.

Don't lose precious time in getting started.

Don't dream—don't drift—get busy and apply yourself to greater knowledge.

IF IT were mine.
TO PUNISH the Kaiser.
I WOULDN'T prod him.
AND I wouldn't strike him.
OR LOCK him up.
OR TAKE him away.
TO SOME barren place,
BUT INSTEAD of that.
I'D FEED him well.
AND KEEP him healthy.
AND LET him live.
FOR YEARS and years.
AND THINK.
AND I can imagine.
THAT AS he thought.
HE MIGHT close his eyes.
AND HEAR the bands.
AND SEE flags come.
AND THEN long lines.
OF THE army he built.
TO PROVE his rule.
"THE BEST word is a blow."
AND I can imagine.
THAT HE might see.
THE QUIET streets.
WHERE THE children played.
IN THE peaceful towns.
AND THE busy streets.
WHERE THE men who toiled.
WENT ON their way.
AND I can imagine.
HE'D HEAR again.
THE APPLAUSE that came.
WHEN THEIR ruler passed.
AND SO he'd dream.
AND HIS dream would change.
AND THE bands would cease.
AND THE flags would cease.
AND HIS army would fade.
AND A mist would come.
AND OUT of the mist.
THE SPECTRE of death.
WOULD BID him look.
AND WHEREVER he looked.
WOULD BE long lines.
OF SOLDIER graves.
AND GHOSTLIKE things.
WOULD POINT to him.
AND HE'D turn away.
TO THE quiet streets.
WHERE THE children played.
AND THERE'D be no play.
AND THE cheeks that were red.
WOULD BE sunken cheeks.
AND MARKED with tears.
FOR SOME one gone.
AND NEVER come back.
AND HE'D go then.
TO THE busy streets.
THAT HE had known.
AND INSTEAD of cheers.
THEY WOULD jeer at him.
AND DRIVE him on.
AND SO he would dream.
AND HE'D hear his own voice.
AND HE'D hear himself say.
THERE WAS but one law.
AND HE was the law.
AND THEN he might laugh.
AS A maniac laughs.
AND GO on his way.
WITH HIS dreams.
AND HIS ghosts.
AND SO he would live.
TILL THE finger of death.
SHOULD TURN the key.
OF HIS prison cell.
AND SET him free.

I THANK you.

A CURE FOR SELF PITY: FORGET IT ALL

By Mrs. Wilson Woodrow

DEAR MRS. WOODROW:

I am sixteen years old and a stenographer. Every Wednesday evening several girls whom I have known ever since I was a child meet at one another's houses and we all knit and chat. Last Wednesday, while at my home, we were all criticising each other's faults, and when it came my turn one of the girls said: "Dorothy has one great big fault, and that is that she sympathizes too much with herself."

Now, Mrs. Woodrow, this astonished me as well as most of the other girls. For a few days I could not help but think about it, and I am still thinking about it most of the time, and I am sorry to say that I found out it was the truth. But I am very despondent now, for I do not know how I can ever overcome such a thing.

Please write an article on the cure for self-sympathizers and greatly oblige a girl who is much worried over a very serious fault. Very gratefully yours,

DOROTHY M.

DEAR DOROTHY: I do not think you had a very nice party.

I know that when one is sixteen, one can enjoy almost anything, but I can easily imagine a more entertaining and amusing, not to mention profitable way of spending an evening than attending a sort of mental clinic and ruthlessly dissecting the poor, shrinking, quivering faults of one's self and one's friends.

I am sure all of you girls thought you were being helpful to each other, as well as showing great personal heroism when each of you took the criticism leveled at you stoically and good-naturedly and determined to profit by it, and then nerved yourself up to the point of administering the same treatment that you had received. But we can only judge of the efficacy of anything by its results, so let us consider the effects of this nothing-but-the-truth causerie.

Every girl present on that Wednesday evening was probably affected by this searchlight of criticism very much as you were, and by your own account you were at first astonished at this new and unflattering picture of yourself, and then it filled your mind to the exclusion of everything else. You thought it over and over. You considered it from every angle. Then came the painful realization that it was the truth.

Now I ask you, did this clear up the whole thing for you? Not at all. It merely produced a feeling of despondency, which was followed by discouragement. And that isn't the worst of it. You are still worrying over it, and making yourself unhappy. You are paying yourself so much for pitying yourself, that you are quite miserable.

The cure, my dear, is simple—so simple that you may treat it with scorn. You may think I am taking your perplexity lightly, and talking down to you in a superior, there-there-little-girl-don't-cry way, because you are very young. I assure you that I am doing nothing of the kind. I am giving you the one real remedy for your bother. It is this—forget it!

What if you are inclined to regard yourself as imposed upon and ill-treated now and then? Such imaginings are not penal offences. And why should you expect to be exempt from faults, when they flourish in such rank and untrimmed luxuriance in most of us?

If you want to look into your own heart, look into it to discover how full it is of laughter and good will, how rich it is in joy of life; and if instead of these pleasant and agreeable things, you see nothing but faults, slam the door of that heart quickly and run away out into the sunshine and fresh air.

THE HAPSBURG CURSE IS FULFILLED

Many misfortunes have befallen the royal house of Austria since the Countess Karolyi shook her quivering finger at Emperor Francis Joseph and, appealing to heaven, said: "May heaven and hell blast his happiness. May his family be exterminated. May he be smitten in the presence of those he loves. May his life be wrecked and may his children be brought to ruin." The unravelling of the tragedy is vividly described in a special article in the next

BOSTON SUNDAY ADVERTISER AND AMERICAN

TODAY

Two Days Crazy—Enough. Whither They Rode. War Disease Is Catching. Has Uncle Sam Got It?

—By Arthur Brisbane—

(Copyright, 1918.)

Early in the war a great German newspaper published a picture of galloping soldiers from Prussia. The line under the picture read "Wir reiten wieder, der Koenig soll sagen wohin," which means, "We are riding again, the King will tell us whither."

War does not pay. Germany and Austria know it.

An important American citizen, now in Europe, said to this writer just before he sailed: "There will be two great powers in the world soon, England and America. The question is which is to be THE great power?"

The competition will be friendly and brotherlike, of course.

But it will be real competition. And our government, which is responsible for the welfare of this country even more than for the welfare and democracy of the entire earth, should realize that competition exists and will continue.

You are told the United States must do the greater part of the work in policing the European seas—which are now strewn with mines. WHY?

You are told that whereas Great Britain takes over the German colonies, the United States must assume "a good deal of responsibility, as it will mean great expense in men, ships, money, etc." WHY?

England is in the empire business, her flag and her dominions are spread all over the world. She has announced from the beginning that she wanted those German colonies.

Let her have them and our blessing go with them. But, as the President has announced, this nation does not want to annex anything. Let us hope it won't be persuaded to saddle the expense of responsibility of the annexing done by anybody else.

There are in the German colonies some of the most highly developed sleeping sickness regions in the world. Let us see to it that those regions are not handed to us as our part of the responsibility.

We are told that the shipping of American soldiers to Europe is to continue, in certain classes. WHY?

We have more than two million men there now. Isn't that a big enough American garrison in Europe for a PEACE basis?

Are we not going to bring those men back, and if not, why not?

And what excuse will anybody offer for sending more men abroad, from their families and from the nation's industries?

Let us not stay in the war as long as we stayed out of it. There are many that would like to keep us in.

There are profiteers with contracts unfinished and hungry for new contracts. But the people are not in the mood to feed them—fifty-seven billions ought to be enough even for American profiteers.

Let the American trusts live on their own fat for a while as the bears do in Winter.

The fat must be pretty thick on some of them, judging by their dividends and the millions that they are able to distribute in charity.

LET US HAVE PEACE, not an indefinite profiteering, militaristic "hang-over."

Uncle Sam has been saving democracy, he hasn't been on a drunk. The people are beginning to feel pretty sober. The military machine will do well to sober up also.

War Decreased Weddings and Births in Italy

A great decrease in marriages and in births was one of the effects of the war on civilian life in Italy. The average number of marriages for the three-year period, 1912-14, was 260,000 a year; in 1915 the number decreased to 185,000. Statistics for 1917 are not yet complete, but it is estimated, by the pessimists, that the number will not exceed 50,000, by the optimists, that it will be about 80,000. The departure of a large contingent of troops during 1917 is given as the reason for the extraordinary decline.

The yearly births, which averaged about 1,123,000 from 1912-1914, in 1915 decreased to 1,100,000, and in 1916 to 881,000. The figures for 1917 are expected to show not more than half a million births.
